3.) Goals

In 2018, we intend to boost our student voter registration and increase student turnout by focusing in particular on the following strategies.
1. Focus on First Year Students. According to 2016 NSLVE data, First Year students had the lowest turnout rate of any year on our campus (52.7%). Although this figure has increased since 2012, there is an opportunity to better engage First Year students to promote registration, turnout, and their overall sense of civic engagement on campus. First Year students are required to participate in at least three First-Year Success Series workshops as a component of their survey course. In addition to the First-Year Success Series workshops that OSU Votes has sponsored in the past, we are developing a partnership with the National Institute for Civil Discourse (NICD) at the University of Arizona. NICD has a series of workshops designed for college students that teach dialogue skills and promote democratic engagement. We are in conversation with staff from NICD to offer at least two of these workshops during fall 2018, for at least 300 first year students.

2. Develop Relationships with Student of Color Communities. Looking at 2016 NSLVE data, White students were the racial group with the highest voter turnout rate. While students of color voted at a higher rate in 2016 compared to 2012, there is still a gap between turnout for White students and students of color. Therefore, in 2018 OSU Votes plans to focus on improving communication, outreach, and information to student of color communities on our campus. This effort will involve working with our Student Life Multicultural Center and Office of Diversity and Inclusion staff to identify designated points of contact in those two offices. We plan to provide consistent information and announcements to those staff members that can be electronically distributed through email and website announcements. We also plan to coordinate with National Panhellenic Council (NPHC) and Multicultural Greek Council (MCGC) chapters in order to provide workshops, information, and literature to students of color in the Greek community.

3. Engage Graduate/Professional Students in our Efforts. In 2016, Ohio State graduate/professional students voted at a lower rate than undergraduates (49.4% to 53.8% respectively, NSLVE). OSU Votes efforts have primarily focused on recruiting undergraduate students as ambassadors, and delivering workshops and programs to undergraduate populations. With more than 15,000 graduate students on campus, this is sizeable part of the student body that we have not yet engaged. For 2018, OSU Votes plans to do a better job of communicating with officers in the Council of Graduate Students (CGS) and Inter-Professional Council (IPC), and providing workshops designed for a graduate/professional student audience.
